Planning and Building

A Planning Permit is a document that gives consent for the use or development of a particular property.

A Building Permit is a document that gives consent for proposed building works on the land. Building permits are approved by a private building surveyor and help ensure adherence to structural requirements.

Planning Permits

Planning permits are issued by Council and may be required for:

- Displaying a sign
- Subdividing land
- Changing the use of a property
- Constructing, altering or demolishing property ie restaurant, accommodation, tourist attraction
- Clearing vegetation
- Providing and requesting a reduction of car parking spaces
- Obtaining a liquor licence

Planning permit enquiries/applications:
basscoast.vic.gov.au

It is advisable you allow sufficient time for a permit application to be processed prior to establishing your business. We recommend that you talk to Council about your proposed business ideas and plans before lodging your planning permit.

A planning officer can help review your proposal prior to the completion of a permit application and provide greater assurance regarding proposal support.

Australian Business Licence and Information Service

ABLIS helps you find the government licences, permits, approvals, registrations, codes of practice, standards and guidelines you need to know about to meet your compliance responsibilities if you are starting, operating, growing, or closing a business.

Building Permits

Building permits are documents that signify that a building surveyor has approved your proposed building work. Almost all building work requires a permit, including alterations, demolitions and change of use.

Proceeding with building work without a required permit can carry fines of up to $60,000. A number of building surveyors service Bass Coast.

Council's Building Department can assist with:

- Provision of building information
- Issue of occupancy permits for places of public entertainment
- Responses to complaints and prosecuting for offences under Victoria's building legislation
- Issue of report and consent for siting variations, construction over easement and demolition works

Food, Personal Care and Accommodation

Food Businesses

If you are planning to operate a business (even a hobby business) or community group that involves the sale of food then you will need to register with Council under the Food Act 1984.

The definition of sale includes food given away for free as part of another service (eg Bed and Breakfast), or as part of a promotion, or as a prize or reward.

Food businesses are classified into four risk levels according to the type of food used on the premises and the target customers.

Risk level	Description	Requirements
1	Sale of high risk foods to vulnerable groups eg aged care facility, child care centre, hospital kitchen	Registration Food Safety Program Food Safety Supervisor Independent Audit Council Inspection
2	Preparation involves exposed high risk foods eg cafés, takeaways, manufacturers of high risk foods	Registration Food Safety Program Food Safety Supervisor Council Inspection
3	Preparation of low risk foods or sale of pre-packaged high risk foods eg green grocers, cake preparation (no cream), milk bars not selling hot foods or sandwiches, community group BBQ	Registration Minimum Records Council Inspection
4	Sale of pre-packaged, low risk foods and some specified activities eg newsagent selling confectionery, sausage sizzle, community group cake stall (no cream)	Notification Council Inspection (optional)

Food Act Registration

Businesses that sell food (including liquor) must register with the appropriate authority depending.

Accommodation Businesses

Bed and breakfasts, self-contained cabins, backpacker hostels, rooming houses, hotels, motels, school camps and holiday houses accommodating six or more people must register their business with Council under the Public Health and Wellbeing Act 2008.

Caravan Parks must also register with Council under the Residential Tenancies (Caravan Parks and Movable Dwellings Registration and Standards) Regulations 2010.

Footpath Trading

Local Laws officers look after issues such as litter and footpath trading.

Council has a Footpath Trading Code and a Local Law No.1. A permit is required to place items on or above the footpath.

Items that require a permit outdoors include:

- Goods for sale
- Planter boxes
- Advertising
- Umbrellas, heaters etc
- Furniture (ie tables and chairs)
- Screens
- Sandwich boards

Council may approve a permit for items on the footpath provided the items do not pose a significant risk to pedestrians or traffic, negatively impact on the existing street aesthetics or impede movement or access.

If a permanent building fixture is needed, a building or planning permit may be required (see page 4).

To be eligible for a permit, you must have a Public Liability Insurance Policy.

Liquor Licencing

If you are planning to sell or serve alcohol, you will need to apply for a Victorian Liquor Licence. The different types of licences are differentiated by the size of the establishment and the amount of alcohol sold or served. A Planning Permit may be required prior to applying to the Victorian Commission for Gambling & Liquor Regulation. Please check with Council's Planning Department.

Common types of liquor licences include:

- Renewable Limited Licence (ie B&Bs, small wineries, small motels with mini bars, caravan parks, etc)
- Vigneron Licence (large wine makers)
- Club Licences
- Restaurant and Café Licence
- General Licence (includes hotels, clubs and taverns)

Issues that influence what type of liquor licence you will require include:

- The licence time period (how long will you require a liquor licence for)
- Where will alcohol be consumed – on premises or taken away
- Land use restrictions or requirements

A Liquor Licence application kit can be downloaded from the Victorian Commission for Gambling & Liquor Regulation website.

Tourism and Directional Signage

If you are considering starting or purchasing a tourism business, Council's Tourism Team will be able to assist you with:

- Reports that identify current and potential visitor markets to the region
- Data on the economic impact of tourism to Bass Coast
- Identifying permits that may be required for your business (eg permits applicable for B&Bs)

Road Signage

The Tourism Team will be able to assist you with your tourist road signage enquiries.

Tourist road signs provide visitors with directions to:

- Attractions
- Accommodation
- Other facilities or locations of interest

The types of signage that may be available to your business will depend on whether the road is Council or VicRoads owned, and the location of the business.

Tourist road signs are directional. They do not include advertising signs for which a planning permit is required (see page 4) or A-frame signage for which a Local Laws permit is required (see page 8). Set criteria must be met to qualify for tourist road signage.

Home-based Business

If you are looking to get out of the rat race, to spend more time with family and friends, and to live a more balanced life, a home-based business may be the right decision for you.

There are a number of guidelines in place to make sure home-based businesses don't have a negative impact on the surrounding neighbourhood.

Some businesses will require a permit, such as a planning or food registration permit, to operate in a residential area.

Listed are some of the things to consider before starting your home-based business.

As a general rule, you can operate a home-based business:

- In a flat or unit
- If the business is not mechanical in nature
- If you employ no more than one person who does not live there
- If the business uses the same amount of electricity, gas or water as normal domestic use
- If it does not cause detriment to adjoining property owners

It is possible to expand your home-based business beyond these requirements with a planning permit.

A planning permit may be required if more than 10 per cent of the floor area of the dwelling is used for the business. It is advisable to contact Council's Planning Department prior to establishing your business to ensure local zoning allows your business and that Council permits are not required.

Waste Services

When setting up a new business there may be waste management and storm water issues to consider.

Council aims to improve waste management by encouraging businesses:

- That require storing of solid waste, to do so securely at their premises
- To minimise the intake of rubbish into storm water drains by collecting litter into bins

The Waste Services Team can provide information on waste management and recycling services and advise of initiatives that may be suitable for integration into your business.

Please note:

There may be local laws and/or health planning requirements involved in specific waste disposal issues. If you are unsure, please contact Council's Waste Services Team.

Accessibility

Making your business more accessible is likely to make it safer for both customers and staff alike.

Good access is about providing the best possible access to your goods and services for all, regardless of age, ability, body size and shape or use of mobility aids.

Good access also benefits customers with children in prams, shoppers with heavy bags/trolleys, older people, delivery people and employees.

What you do to improve accessibility doesn't need to be expensive and it will also assist you to meet your legal responsibilities to provide equitable access to goods and services.
